

Improving learner performance by embedding Skills for Life

Invitation to a Dissemination Workshop:
Practitioners

Thursday 22nd March 10.00 – 15.30
KPMG Birmingham office, Seminar Room

By adopting a Whole Organisation Approach to Skills for Life over 30 pathfinder providers from across the country have improved the quality of teaching and learning.

As a respected practitioner in the sector, we would be delighted if you could join us at this leading edge event and be amongst the first to hear about how you too could benefit from adopting the same approach. The day will look in depth at the following areas:

Effective resources

This event will introduce you to a menu of exemplary teaching and learning resources and help you to focus on developing your own resources to improve delivery and the learning experience across a wide range of curriculum areas

Improved delivery

You will have the opportunity to talk to managers and practitioners from pathfinder organisations and obtain practical advice and guidance on embedding Skills for Life into the curriculum.

The day will consist of brief, interactive presentations on individual pathfinder experiences, to be followed by discussions on how you could benefit from adopting some of these approaches. We very much hope you can attend this exciting event. Places are limited so please RSVP to Sara Mooney at KPMG. Lunch will be provided.
